By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Harding has taken his first important step toward solving the railway problem. He has in effect asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce freight rates. He didn't do so directly—he managed the thing very tactfully and diplomatically. For a President isn't supposed to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is a quasi-judicial body, to render any decisions. Woodrow Wilson had some informal conferences once with members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and was severely criticized for trying to influence the commission to revise rates.

President Harding adopted a much more direct and even bolder course, which unquestionably will establish a precedent and brush aside for all time the technical criticism that a President can't communicate with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Harding walked to the Interstate Commerce Commission Building and told the members of the commission that he recognized that the commission is the rate-making agent of Congress and that, inasmuch as he had the official right to communicate to Congress any message he pleased, he therefore felt free to communicate directly with the agent of Congress.

He was much pleased to know that the commission was endeavoring to bring about a revision of rates and that the commission was proceeding on a plan whereby the railways would voluntarily reduce their scale of certain commodities where obviously the rate was more than the traffic could bear.

Mr. Harding left the commission with a parting word that carried a great deal of significance. He spoke of his desire to be helpful and to remain in closer touch with the work of the commission is doing.

Now the visit of Mr. Harding was a casual affair, accidentally brought about. It was deliberately thought out as a means of convincing the country that President Harding recognized the necessity of lower freight rates and that he hoped the carriers would see the desirability of meeting public opinion and accepting economies in other directions.

HISTORY OF HAIR NET BROUGHT OUT IN SUIT

Vienna and New York Manufacturer Alleges St. Louis Dealer Infringed on Trade-Mark.

The history of the hair net is set forth in a suit filed today in the Federal Court by Edmund Grossman of New York, head of I. Grossman, Inc., manufacturer of hair nets in Vienna and New York, against Gustav Vogel, a dealer in hair goods at 1239 Victor street, in which it is alleged that the Grossman company has been damaged $50,000 by an alleged infringement by Vogel upon its registered trade-mark.

Grossman states that his father, Ignaz Grossman, invented the hair net in 1863 in Vienna, making a silk product. In 1879, the petition states, Grossman improved the hair net by making it of human hair and for a number of years thereafter employed all the female labor obtainable in the vicinity of Vienna. Exhausting the labor supply there, he established another factory in Moravia and in 1885 it was ordered that the art of making hair nets should be a compulsory part of the education of girls in the Moravian public schools. Aided by the Austrian Government, the petition states, Grossman set up other factories in rural districts and in 1910 invented the cap hair net.

His enterprise was rewarded, the petition states, by his appointment to be "imperial commercial rat," which does not mean what it appears to state, but established him as commercial advisor to the royal court.

The Grossman hair net is put up in a package, the petition states, bearing the words: "The Lady's Hair Net," and carrying a picture of the net. It is alleged that Vogel has put up his product in a package bearing a label, "The American Lady's Hair Net," and also bearing a picture of the net. The petition asks for an accounting of damages and an injunction against Vogel's continuing the use of the name.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST GRANDSON IN HANDLAN WILL

W. J. Lemp III to Get Only $5000 From Grandfather's Estate and That at Death of His Mother.

REASON EXPLAINED IN THE DOCUMENT

Bulk of Manufacturer's Holdings to Be Held in Trust for 20 Years With Income Going to Children.

The will of Alexander H. Handlan, wealthy manufacturer of railroad supplies, which was filed today, contains a clause discriminating against his grandson, William J. Lemp III, and explaining that the discrimination is due to the fear that the youth may come under the influence of his father, William J. Lemp, who is head of the Lemp Brewing Co.

Mrs. Lillian Handlan Lemp, known as the "Lavender Lady" because of her fondness for that color, obtained a divorce in 1911, with custody of her son. He is now 20 years old. Lemp has married again.

Handlan's will, after making specific bequests, places the residue of the estate in trust for 20 years, and divides the income into four shares of 15 per cent each. One of the 15 per cent shares is to go to Mrs. Lemp, but it is stipulated that, if Mrs. Lemp should die, not more than $5000 of the estate is to go to her son.

The reason for this discrimination, the will states, "is the fear that he might come under the influence of his father. It is my purpose to make such discrimination, but if he is to be dominated and influenced by his father, and deprived of his mother's training, I believe it is better that he should have a considerable sum of money. I want my grandson to realize that this discrimination is wholly on account of his father's treatment of my daughter, his mother."

Handlan, who was 77 years old, and was president of the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing Co., died Saturday at his summer home in Oconomowoc, Wis. His will was made April 27, 1920.

The will provides that the widow, Mrs. Mollie A. Handlan, shall receive $12,000 a year, also from a trust fund, and shall have the house, hold furniture, automobiles and jewelry, and the house at 3645 Olive street, conditioned on Handlan's owning the house at the time of his death.

Requests of $1000 are made to each of the children, Eugene W., Alex. H. and Edward R. Handlan. Mrs. Lemp, Mrs. Marie H. Hornsby, Mrs. Vella Bisbee and Mrs. M. J. Traut, who is named in the will as Mrs. Kathryn Handlan. She took the name of Handlan after her divorce from M. Dwight Fortner.

Six bequests of $500 each are made to Catholic Church organizations, which are: St. Francis Xavier's Church, $500 for masses; St. Louis Catholic Orphan Asylum for Boys, St. Louis Catholic Orphan Asylum for Girls, Little Sisters of the Poor, Grand avenue and Cherokee street; St. Vincent de Paul Society, and Mt. St. Rose Hospital.

Payments of $50 a month each to two brothers, Eugene Y. and John J. Handlan, are directed, and the same to Mrs. Regina H. Shaw of 5155 Maple avenue, and a bequest of $2500 is made to Thomas R. Crawford, a negro employee of the Handlan-Buck company.

STANDING ROOM ONLY WHEN DEFENDANTS IN DRY CASES APPEAR

Federal Court Is Crowded When Half of 300 Persons on Docket Answer to Bonds.

About 150 persons, chiefly Volstead act defendants, appeared today under their bonds in Federal Court. The courtroom was crowded, about 50 persons were standing and 50 others standing without.

Judge Fairis said that he would set some of the cases for trial on Sept. 6, others for a later date. The court's docket now has about 300 cases involving Volstead act violations.

Five saloon proprietors and bartenders who pleaded guilty to liquor law violations were fined as follows by Judge Fairis: True Byers, $100; Nick Bullott, $200; Gus Walker, $200; Frank Corvill, $100, and William F. Davis, $200.

SENATE PASSES NAVY BILL WITH BORAH AMENDMENT

Measure Now Goes to Conference, With House Leaders Opposing Increases in Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Senate finally passed today the navy appropriation bill, carrying about $494,000,000 and including the Borah amendment requesting the President to initiate a disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

The vote on passage was 54 to 17. Five Republicans, Capper, Kansas; La Follette and Lenroot, Wisconsin; Norbeck, South Dakota, and Norris, Nebraska, voted against the bill.

The 12 Democratic opponents were: Dial, South Carolina; Glass, Virginia; Harris, Georgia; Harrison, Mississippi; Hoffman, Alabama; Hitchcock, Nebraska; King, Utah; Pomeroy, Ohio; Sheppard, Texas; Stanley, Kentucky; Trammell, Florida, and Watson, Georgia.

The measure, which carries funds for the navy for the fiscal year beginning July 1, now goes to conference for consideration of increases aggregating nearly $100,000,000, which were approved by the Senate despite an economy drive.

House leaders are understood to be prepared for stubborn resistance of the Senate increases. It is reported that the House leaders have been given notice that not one Senate increase will be accepted even at risk of defeating the bill.

GUIDE HANGS SELF WITH ALPINE ROPE IN CREVASSE

Leaves Note to Let Body Drop From Its Altitude of 13,000 Feet and Request Is Carried Out.

GENEVA, May 1.—An Italian guide named Pozzi, 25 years old, recently was found hanging in a crevasse at an altitude of about 13,000 feet near the summit of the Piz Bernina, on the Swiss-Italian frontier.

"According to a report from Maloja, Pozzi left alone to climb the difficult mountain, intending to end his life. He dug his ice ax on the brink of a deep crevasse, twisted his Alpine rope round his neck, and then jumped down. The body was found after a week's search."

The act was explained by a love letter found in the snow. It contained this last request: "Just cut the rope and let me be buried in peace in an ice grave." The request was carried out.

Governor Tells Post-Dispatch He Will Quickly Restore Order

Gov. Robertson of Oklahoma, when asked over the long distance telephone concerning the situation in Tulsa, said:

"We hope the worst is over at Tulsa. Two hundred National Guardsmen are there or on the way. I am informed that shooting has ceased, but that houses are still burning."

"The negroes have been assembled in the baseball park, in the city auditorium and in the jail, with sufficient forces to protect them."

"I will restore order at once." "The number of deaths is from 35 to 75, according to the various estimates I have received. I have not learned how large a part of those killed were negroes."

Soon after making this statement the martial law proclamation was issued.

PASSENGERS LAY ON FLOORS OF PULLMANS

Traveling Man Describes Rioting in Tulsa Around Frisco Station.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 1.—Mute evidence of the fury of the race clash was borne by a St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train which arrived here today from the East. Many of the windows in one of the coaches had been shot out and the sides of the coaches were scarred by bullets fired upon the train as it passed through the negro sections in Tulsa early today. None of the passengers was injured.

J. E. Lucas, a traveling salesman, who arrived here today from Tulsa, gave a vivid account of the fighting in the vicinity of the St. Louis & San Francisco passenger station.

"The fighting seemed to center around the Frisco station," he said. "The place was virtually besieged from 10 o'clock last night until 2 o'clock this morning. A number of women and children huddled terror-stricken in the women's rest room and crouched behind marble waistcoats seeking protection from bullets."

"Pullman cars standing in the yards were fired on and the windows shattered. Passengers left their berths and lay flat on the floor in the aisles."

"There was a lull in the firing when a passenger train pulled in and women and children alighted. Then the firing began again."

"Oodies of three negroes were lying in front of the station when the train arrived."

STAY OF PRICE EXCHANGE INJUNCTION IS REFUSED

Supreme Court Decision in Case of Hardware Manufacturers; Other Cases Passed On.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Supreme Court today refused the petition of the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association for a stay against the injunction obtained by the Government to prevent the members from exchanging price information.

The court denied a petition of the Lincoln (Neb.) Gas and Light Co. for a writ of mandamus upon Judge Martin J. Wade, who sat in the case brought by that company to prevent alleged interference with its efforts to establish higher rates to consumers of its product.

6000 NEGROES ARE GUARDED IN CAMPS; THEIR HOMES BURNED

Chief of Police Makes Report of Casualties in Fighting Through Night and Morning

MARTIAL LAW IN EFFECT WITH INFANTRY ON DUTY

Jails, Convention Hall and Baseball Park Filled With Refugees—2000 Negroes Said to Have Left Town Since Outbreak Yesterday.

By Long Distance Telephone to the Post-Dispatch From the City Editor of the Tulsa Daily World.

TULSA, Ok., June 1.—Acting under orders from Gov. J. B. A. Robertson, Adjutant-General C. F. Barrett at noon today declared martial law in effect in Tulsa, a city of 72,000, and in Tulsa County. It was announced at that time by Chief of Police Gustafson that nine white men had been killed since yesterday evening in the race riot which continued throughout the night and culminated this morning in the burning of the negro section of the town. The number of negroes killed he estimated at 65.

Two companies of National Guard Infantry and one machine gun company were put on duty in the negro quarter, and all persons besides officials were disarmed by the troops. Both whites and black came under this order.

A commission composed of seven city officials and business men to pass upon the status of 6000 negroes held under guard in improvised prison camps was formed by Mayor T. D. Evans and Chief of Police Gustafson, with the approval of Gen. Barrett.

The commission is composed of the following: C. S. Younkman and H. F. Newblock, City Commissioners; Judge Albert J. Hunt, C. S. Avery, Grant McCullough, E. E. White and Maj. Alva J. Niles.

This evening the negro refugees will be moved to the county fairgrounds, the commission announced. Fire Chief R. C. Alder said at 2 p. m. that he believed danger to the residences of white people had passed, although at that time the negro section known as "Little Africa" was still blazing.

At 2:30 this morning fire was set to houses of several negroes. Firemen who answered the alarm were prevented by members of the white mob from laying the hose, and returned to their engine houses. The fire started, then burned itself out after destroying only a few houses. About daybreak fires started in many parts of the negro section, and there is no possibility of saving many of the houses, the flames burning unchecked all morning and spreading from one house to another.

The houses were of a character found in the negro section of almost any city, ranging from small shanties to houses valued at from $3000 to $10,000, a part of the district in former years having been a good white residence section.

Fighting Across Railroad Tracks. During the night the two mobs remained divided most of the time by the railroad tracks at the edge of the negro section, and there was constant firing from one side to the other. Members of the mobs gaining shelter behind buildings and railroad cars. When daylight came, however, the white men raided the negro section, shooting at negroes wherever they saw them. The negroes, although outnumbering the whites, did not hold their ground and ran from the district.

They were picked up by small groups of white men and taken to the Convention Hall, where they were herded under guard of white men, who were attempting to quell the section. They were met by other groups of negroes.

CHESTERMAN STAND IN OWN DEFENSE WRITES ANSWERS

KANSAS CITY MAN CHARGED With Murder of Miss Barton Has Not Spoken Since Recapture Last Fall.

TELLS JURY WHERE HE WAS LIVING

Second Man Accused in Case Said Yesterday He Had Received Offers to Swear Chester Fired Fatal Shot.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, June 1.—Answering questions with a pencil and paper, Chester went on the witness stand today in his own defense. The defendant, once a horse-shoer and later a motor car mechanic, is charged with fatally shooting Miss Florence Barton, society girl, and daughter of a wholesale shoe merchant, near Eighty-seventh street and Blue Ridge road, when in a motor car with her fiancé, Howard Winter, the night of Oct. 2, 1920. Chester said that on the night of Oct. 2 he was living at a rooming house run by Joe Hartnett. Hartnett had previously testified to the same effect, and yesterday Fred Roberts, also charged with murder in connection with Miss Barton's death, said Chester was living at Hartnett's place Oct. 2. Mrs. Blanche Ryan, State witness, has testified Chester was living in her apartment the night of the murder.

Chester is 6 feet 2 inches in height and broad in proportion. Since his recapture at Broken Bow, Neb. last November, and two weeks ago at St. Louis, he has been in the custody of the police. He is charged with the murder of Miss Barton, and the murder of a man named "Moonshine" liquor. A copper still of 50-gallon daily capacity was found at 12:10 a. m. today in a building in the rear of 705 O'Fallon street by the police. In a second floor room the police found five vials containing about 12,500 gallons of corn mash, and on a third floor seven five-gallon cans of "moonshine" alcohol. The still was in operation, but no one was about. An Italian who operates a wagon shop at 705 O'Fallon street said that he had rented the rear to persons whose names he gave.

The ninth day of the trial for the death of Miss Barton, who was shot by a supposed highwayman the night of Oct. 2 last began today with the testimony of the defense. Prospects, attorneys said, that the case might not get to the jury before Friday or Saturday. Extensive cross-examination of defense witnesses has delayed the progress, it is stated.

Testimony by Roberts Was Given Yesterday.
Testimony that he had received offers of financial assistance from persons interested in the prosecution of Chester if he would testify that Chester fired the fatal shot was given yesterday by Fred Roberts, also charged with murder in connection with the killing.

Roberts further testified that he was with Chester until midnight Oct. 3, the night when Miss Barton was shot by a supposed highwayman while riding on a country road with Howard Winter, her fiancé, and that the two men spent the evening riding in a motor car downtown. The time of the Barton killing, according to evidence presented by the State, was approximately 11:15 p. m.

Tells of Movements.
Roberts said he and Chester, on the advice of a private detective, left town three days after the killing, according to several Kansas towns and later going to Oklahoma City, where they separated. Roberts going to St. Joseph, Mo., and Chester starting for the west. Roberts was arrested in connection with the Barton killing at Great Falls, Mont. While he was in jail at St. Joseph, Roberts testified he received numerous offers from John Hagan, head of a private detective agency, and from William Barton, a cousin, and H. B. Barton, a brother of the dead girl, who tried to induce him to sign a statement saying Chester had fired the shot. Roberts said he was offered financial backing in starting a garage in any town outside of Kansas City, immunity from all charges against him, and money, if he would sign such a statement. He said he refused to sign it, because it was not true.

Says Offers Were Made Openly.
"These offers were made to you openly, in the presence of the sheriff of Buchanan County and his deputy," asked Kimbrell, special prosecutor.

Roberts said they were. He said the sheriff's name was Isaacson. Kimbrell cross-examined the witness in a conversational tone, and frequently smiled at him and at the jury. Lloyd Martz, one of Chester's lawyers, objected to Kimbrell's smiling, but his objection was ignored.

"Didn't you and Chester and a third man drive into a garage here at 2 o'clock the morning of the tragedy and talk to a man named Chapman, a former partner of yours, and a negro, and buy oil?" asked Kimbrell.

Roberts said "No." He said there was no third man in the car with him and Chester.

Winter has testified there were two other men in the car with the man who did the shooting. "Concerning their drive about town the night of the tragedy, Roberts named several places he said he and Chester visited. They rode, he said, in a borrowed motor car, a make of which was the same as that which Winter has testified the three men occupied.

Once he was taken to a dentist's office, Roberts said, handcuffed to a deputy sheriff, then handcuffed to the dentist, and kept there all afternoon, while an attempt was made to persuade him to sign a statement that Chester had fired the fatal shot.

GIRL, WHO ESCAPED WEEK AGO, RETAKEN ON FORGERY CHARGE

Special Policemen, Who Let Miss Marian Walker Get Away From Them, Reprimanded by Board.

SECOND ARREST MADE IN WEST END

Another Young Woman Detained, but Denies Knowledge of Alleged Bad Check Passing of the Other.

Miss Marian Walker, 21 years old, was rearrested yesterday about the same time that two special policemen were being reprimanded by the board of Police Commissioners because she escaped from them last Wednesday after having been arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks on retail merchants, mostly druggists.

Yesterday's arrest was made at King's highway and Delmar boulevard. Beatrice Ward, 24 years old, was with Miss Walker, who also is wanted by the police for passing bad checks. The still was in operation, but no one was about. An Italian who operates a wagon shop at 705 O'Fallon street said that he had rented the rear to persons whose names he gave.

Details of First Arrest.
Miss Walker was first arrested at Grand avenue and 12th street, about noon last Wednesday, on information given by Theodore Hagenson, proprietor of drug stores at 1701 and 3008 South Grand avenue. She passed a check for $100, now at one of his stores, and had come to the other store and attempted to pass a check on the manager, who called up Hagenson and was instructed to have her arrested. Further investigation showed that worthless checks aggregating about $300 had been passed on merchants by a young woman who represented herself to be a trained nurse.

After being taken to the Magdalen Avenue Station Miss Walker said she had been induced to pass the checks by the members of the Election Board, representatives of the Circuit Attorney's office and the Circuit Court.

The meeting was to consider whether the Supreme Court decision in the Feinstein case, that the ballot boxes of last August's primary could not be opened for evidence of fraud, affected the indictments. Those present agreed to meet again to report their investigation as to the legal aspects of continuing prosecutions under the indictments, in the light of the Supreme Court's decision.

Policemen Reprimanded.
At yesterday's meeting of the Police Board Braudrick and Hess were severely censured. Braudrick was ordered to wear a uniform and walk a beat and it was announced he would be transferred from the Magdalen avenue district to another district to be designated by Police Chief O'Brien.

Miss Walker today said she escaped from the special officers in the Arcade Building by inducing a messenger boy to hold open a store door in such a way that it momentarily hid her from the eyes of Special Policemen Hess and Braudrick. She said she then went through a store on Eighth street and through a restaurant and into a shoe store on Locust street, where she changed two pairs of shoes and paid for them with two bad checks, a few minutes after her escape. She left the shoes in the store, she said, after receiving $60 cash change from the check. When about to leave the store, she said, she saw Braudrick and Hess on the sidewalk, and to avoid them she went out the back way.

She said her home was in St. Louis, but would not make known the names of her parents. She asserted she was graduated at McKinley High School in 1917 and studied in a Kansas City hospital to be a trained nurse, but did not finish the course there. She met Burns in Chicago and they came here about two months ago, she said, and began passing bad checks a short time later. She told detectives Burns wrote the first two checks, but she wrote the remainder.

A Mrs. Walker of 4216 Wyoming street, and a young man said to be her son, called at headquarters this afternoon, saw the girl and said she was not related to them.

LACLEDE GAS REDUCES WAGES

A reduction of 10 per cent in the wages of between 400 and 500 employees of the Laclede Gas Light Co. at its manufacturing plants, went into effect today.

G. B. Evans, vice president and general manager of the company, said that no estimate of the dollar's saving to the company had been made. The Public Service Commission, in recently advancing rates, stated that the cost of labor and maintenance could be expected to go down and figured a reduction in the company's figures for those items.

TO AWARD TERMINAL CONTRACT

Government Will Let Construction of River Dock Saturday

The contract for the construction of the new terminal of the Government river service at Rutger street will be awarded Saturday in the office of Maj. Lewis C. Jones, United States engineer for the St. Louis district. The award will call for completion in six months.

SUMMONS HAD TO BE SERVED ON PORCH TO BE EFFECTIVE

Rest of House Was Within City Limits and Out of Jurisdiction of County Process.

When Deputy Constable A. J. Frank of Clayton started out today to serve a summons on Frank McCarthy of 6113 North Market street, he was instructed to deliver the paper on the back porch of the McCarthy home.

Constable Schoenhein informed him that the McCarthy home, with the exception of the back porch, was within the limits of the City of St. Louis, and that a county process served inside the house would not be binding.

McCarthy is defendant in a suit for $48.50 brought at Clayton by the Missouri State Fair Association in connection with an account for services. The summons is returnable in Justice Werremeyer's court June 15.

MOTOR COMPANY SUES OFFICERS OF BANKRUPT TRUCK CONCERN

Petition, Asking for $37,516, Alleges They, as Individuals, Agreed to Pay Indebtedness.

The Wisconsin Motor Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee today filed suit in the United States District Court for $37,516, against Henry W. Kardell, John C. Kardell, Henry F. Fahr-ekrog and George Moore, officers of the Kardell Tractor and Truck Co., 6900 South Broadway, which went into voluntary bankruptcy Feb. 15 last.

The petition alleges that the officers of the Kardell company, as individuals, signed a contract in which they agreed to pay all indebtedness of the company for goods it might purchase from the Wisconsin concern. The petition says the company's assets are insufficient to pay the debt and the suit is filed against the officers as individuals.

NO DECISION AS TO FURTHER ACTION IN PRIMARY CASES

Conference to Make Further Study of the Supreme Court's Opinion in the Feinstein Suit.

No decision as to future action, under 59 indictments alleging frauds in the last primary election, was reached today at a conference at the City Hall of members of the Election Board, representatives of the Circuit Attorney's office and the Circuit Court.

The meeting was to consider whether the Supreme Court decision in the Feinstein case, that the ballot boxes of last August's primary could not be opened for evidence of fraud, affected the indictments. Those present agreed to meet again to report their investigation as to the legal aspects of continuing prosecutions under the indictments, in the light of the Supreme Court's decision.

Bone formerly was editor in chief of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and it is said one of the considerations which caused his appointment was his wide experience with newspaper paper and wood pulp problems. He was publicity manager for the Republican National Committee in the 1920 campaign.

HUSBAND SAYS HE SPENT $1,398,316 ON PEGGY JOYCE

Colorful Story of Actress—Wife's Life Related in Answer to Her Petition for $10,000 a Month.

DUKE AND PRINCE NAMED AMONG 5 MEN

He Declares "Stage Aunt" Was Maintained by Her to Give Appearance of Refinement.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, June 1.—James Stanley Joyce has depicted a colorful story of the life and adventures of Peggy Joyce in 59 pages of an answer filed here yesterday to the demand of his wife for $10,000 a month for subsistence.

In the answer, Mrs. Joyce is painted, not as the quarry of pursuing love-mad millionaires, but as a huntress. In Joyce's story of confessions are a Duke with a shad-ow title, an Albanian Prince, an army Lieutenant who killed himself, a restaurant keeper and an alleged confidence man.

The name of the army Lieutenant is not mentioned. "While she was still the wife of her second husband, Sherburne Philbrick Hopkins," the answer states, "and some years prior to the granting of the decree of divorce, said petitioner was living with one Lieut. —, an officer in the United States army, now dead, whose name is not mentioned out of respect to his memory. She lived with him at 1 West Sixty-seventh street, in New York City, and due to her extravagance and craving for jewels, said Lieutenant ran into debt and by reason of that fact became involved and committed suicide by shooting himself in New York City in the fall of 1918."

Prince and Duke Named.
The Prince, according to the answer, was Prince Viora of Albania. During Peggy's sojourn in Paris in October, 1920, Joyce charges, he was her admirer and almost constant associate. Hours were spent together in each other's company in Peggy's room in the Hotel de Rhine, the document states. Their relations, it is said, became the subject of comment generally in the French capital.

"The Duke was the Duc de Durcal, whom Peggy met in London in July, 1920, and with whom, it is charged, she frequently lunched in his apartment at the Claridge Hotel.

The third man revealed was Joseph Paul, a New York restaurant keeper, who Joyce says, found more than ordinary favor in Peggy's regard. They motored together in public in New York in an intoxicated condition, it is charged, and while so motoring and so intoxicated, Peggy sat on Paul's lap, Joyce says.

Throughout the 59 pages are jibes at Peggy's cloak of respectability and her "stage aunt," whom she carried to maintain an exterior appearance of refinement and good breeding.

Joyce has had an appraisal made of his wealth and finds it total $2,185,685. He says he "lavished, blew in, spent and burned up $1,398,316.32" on Peggy since the marriage. They were married but 10 months.

Charges Murder Before Divorce.
Joyce declares that Peggy, who says that she "was married at the age of 17 to Everett Archer," was never married to him, but to an Everett Archibald Jr. of Denver.

Archibald, Joyce recites, sued her for divorce in July, 1914, alleging intimacy with other men, and a divorce was entered on Nov. 4, 1914. 14 months after Peggy had married her second husband, Sherburne Philbrick Hopkins, at Bellair, Md., Sept. 1, 1913. By this time Peggy was on the stage and "the scene" scenes Woods Theater here in June, 1919.

This respondent knew nothing of the character, general reputation or past experience of said petitioner, says the answer but took her entirely as she appeared to be and met her three times before June 6, 1919, the day on which she left Chicago.

Peggy charged that on the first evening Joyce said he was deeply in love with her and pressed her to marry him; that he followed her about until Aug. 15, to which there is appended a quotation from a published interview with Peggy, in which she stated: "After he had been following me about and I was following him, I decided that the easiest way to do was to marry him."

Reference to Stage Aunt.
Joyce admits that he was attracted to Peggy and wished to see her as often as possible, but states that he believed this desire to have been mutual and inserts in his answer copies of numerous endearing telegrams from New York and Colorado Springs during the summer of 1919. At this point, Joyce introduces the "stage aunt."

"The Aunt," as he described Mrs. Ida M. Smart, was a great convenience as a chaperone. He mentions her role in the case of Barton French, with whom Peggy is accused of having been indiscreet at Torquay, England.

Communications relative to this intimate relationship, continued through the aid of the "stage aunt" while he and Peggy were sailing for Europe on their wedding trip. The "aunt" kept in touch via wireless with French, who went under such descriptive titles as "Beer" and "Bacon" for code purposes, he says.

BARUCH DENIES HE PROFITED DURING WAR

Letter to Senator Says Since Entering Government Service, He Has Followed No Gainful Pursuit.

From the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Bernard M. Baruch reviewed his service during the war and defends himself against the attack of critics in a letter to Senator Kenyon, which was placed in the Congressional Record yesterday.

"If they are right, I should be shot," says Baruch in referring to his opponents. "If they are liars, as I have publicly accused them of being, then they deserve a worse fate for aspersing the name of one who merely tried to do his duty with a heart full of devotion to the ideals of his country."

The letter was written by Baruch because Senator Kenyon in a letter to Clifford Thorne, counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation, had raised a question as to Baruch's course in connection with the fixing of the price of copper during the war, and in connection with the item of $150,000 for expenses to Paris paid by the Government, and alleged to have gone to Mr. Baruch.

Last March Thorne wrote a letter to Senator Kenyon, saying Baruch had been called before the Farmers' Marketing Committee for advice in regard to the formation of a system for co-operative marketing of grain on a large scale. He asked Senator Kenyon what was the basis for some of the attacks on Baruch in Congress on April 18. Senator Kenyon, in a letter to Thorne said he had a feeling that there was a good deal of patriotism about Baruch, but he could not overlook the fixing of the price of copper in connection with Baruch's large interest in copper, not the $150,000 expense item.

"Some of these things naturally put a question mark in my mind when it comes to the placing of a halo on Baruch's brow," wrote Kenyon. Thorne obtained permission from Senator Kenyon to show this to Baruch, and thereupon the latter wrote the letter to the Senator. In it he said:

"It may interest you to know that never, since my going to Washington in the early part of 1917, have I ever engaged in a single gainful pursuit. I disposed of every interest I possessed that might possibly have been affected by my activities in Washington. I have neither bought nor sold, directly or indirectly, in any way, a single share of stock nor any grain or cotton, nor any products whatsoever, though I believe I would have profited heavily had I permitted myself to operate.

"I saw clearly what the future was going to bring forth. In March, 1920, I publicly predicted that we had reached the zenith of scarcity, and therefore of high prices. You know what followed. In December of the same year I publicly stated that we had reached the bottom of our troubles. Between the time of those two events it would have been possible for me to have made millions of dollars had I cared to speculate. But again I repeat that I have neither bought nor sold, nor entered into any gainful pursuit of any description.

"As far as the two points referred to in your letter are concerned, there is not a scintilla of fact upon which any criticism could be based in reference either to the copper matter nor to the item of allowance of $150,000.

"I have no interests whatsoever in copper since the beginning of the war with Germany. This I say with out reservation of any sort. It is true that I arranged the purchase of copper by the Government for all the then known needs at 16 2/3 cents a pound, which was less than half the then existing market price. Thereafter, when we entered the war, the price of copper was fixed by the War Industries Board of the Council of National Defense, of which I was only one member of seven."

CHARGES SPANISH SAILOR'S BODY WAS THROWN IN SHIP'S FURNACE

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 1.—Counsel representing the Spanish Consul-General yesterday filed charges with District Attorney Lewis in Brooklyn that the body of Cesar F. Vecchina, a seaman alleged to have been killed in an explosion on the steamship El Mundo here last November, had been thrown into a furnace, Lewis at once began an investigation.

It is alleged that the master of the ship, in a letter to Federal steamboat inspectors last January, had admitted that the body had been found in such condition that it had been burned.

Officials of the Southern Pacific Steamship Co., owning the El Mundo, denied that a body had been destroyed. They explained that when the hold was cleaned out two months after the explosion, there was found in the refuse an object six inches long which might have been a bone, and this was burned.

The owners added that two bodies had been found and identified and buried. They admitted a claim had been made that a third man had been killed, but said no proof had been brought forward by the claimants.

Expert Filipina Needlewomen Are to Be Seen at Work Beside a Native Nipa House in Our Undergarment Section

FIRST the materials have been sent to the Philippines—the finest of nainsooks and longcloths—and the garments cut from well-studied patterns. As the different provinces specialize in certain types of work, such as scalloping, calado or a jour work, knotting and dots, garlands of dainty flower buds and others, a single garment frequently passes through many expert hands before it is ready to be sewed, laundered carefully, and returned to the United States.

It has been a delightful discovery to thousands of women to find that these beautiful, delicate, embroidered Undergarments, so exquisitely fine and desirable, are still wonderfully practical. They are specially priced.

FULL PROTECTION AGAINST LOSS

TO the average man or woman who invests money, the question of safety or protection against loss is most important.

While the temptation is always great to obtain large returns, an investor, and particularly one of small or moderate means, should place safety of principal before all other considerations.

In offering our Guaranteed First Mortgage Participations, we emphasize particularly the safety they afford the investment of large or small amounts.

As the direct obligations of this Company, guaranteed against loss and secured by special deposit of high-grade first mortgage real estate loans, they are safe investments in every sense of the word.

In addition to their safety, these securities are issued for any amount from $50 up—are payable any month you designate up to five years—and bear rates up to 6%.

Whenever you have money to invest, ask us about these investments.

DIVING FOR TRUNK BELIEVED TO HOLD WEALTHY WOMAN'S BODY

Seattle (Wash.) Authorities Holding James E. Mahoney, the Husband on Forgery Charge.
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., June 1.—Additional divers were put to work at Lake Union here yesterday in an effort to find a trunk believed by the police to contain the body of Kate M. Mahoney, wealthy Seattle woman, who has been missing since last April, and whose husband, James E. Mahoney, is held on a charge of first degree forgery.

A dispatch to the Times from Chattanooga, Tenn., where Irene Ford Mahoney, first wife of Mahoney, is living, quotes her as declaring that she was never divorced from Mahoney, as the latter has maintained, and that she also been stated that she said she obtained a divorce.

Mahoney, after the disappearance of his wife, administered her property under a power of attorney purporting to have been signed by her.

Police here, it is said, have received information from Mr. and Mrs. N. Klette, leading to the belief by the police that the missing woman may have been killed and her body burned in a stove.

The police say the Klettes stated they were neighbors of the Mahoneys, and that they heard screams and groans in the Mahoney apartment on the night of April 16, when Mrs. Mahoney disappeared.

Mrs. Klette told the police she saw the Mahoneys together on that date, and that she saw a packing case and, later in the night, a trunk taken from the apartment by Mahoney.

On the night of May 1, Mrs. Klette said, according to the police, Mahoney returned to his apartment. Mrs. Klette told the police there was a fire in the stove from which there was an odor which lasted for hours.

A portion of Mrs. Mahoney's wealth, it is understood, consisted of property holdings in Texas.

Funeral for Mother of Late Charles A. Stix to Be Friday From Michael Residence.
The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Stix, mother of the late Charles A. Stix, who was president of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co., and of Mrs. Elias Michael and Mrs. E. S. Well, will be held at 9:30 Friday morning at Mrs. Michael's home, 433 Westminster place. Mrs. Stix died there at 1:30 this morning, from weakness due to age. She was nearly 82 years old.

She became ill last night, having been about the house as usual yesterday, and having taken an automobile ride the evening before.

She was a sister of the late Henry Rice, owner of the late Charles A. Stix-Rice Dry Goods Co. She was born in Bamberg, Bavaria, and came to this country as a child. She was married to Aaron Stix, who died 50 years ago. A number of relatives from other cities are expected to attend the funeral.

WOMAN STEALS $32 IN STORE

Gets Behind Counter by Ruse and Takes Money From Coat.
A young woman entered the confectionery of Mrs. Emil H. Grunwald, 4406 Natural Bridge avenue, at 5 p. m. yesterday and ordered 15 cents' worth of cakes. She offered a check for $12.15 and when Mrs. Grunwald declined to cash it asked for permission to step behind the counter, saying that she desired to get some money from her stocking.

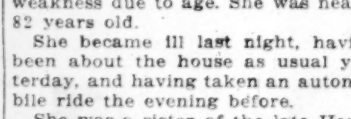

After fumbling about behind the counter the woman stepped out and remarked that she had only large bills. She returned the cakes and departed. A few minutes later Mrs. Grunwald discovered that $12 had been taken from a pocket of her husband's coat, which was hanging behind the counter.

QUOTAS OF PARISHES FOR EDUCATIONAL FUND

Committee Which Will Raise Money to Be Given to Archbishop Opens Headquarters.

The amounts each Catholic parish will be asked to raise as its part of a testimonial educational fund of more than $250,000 to be given to Archbishop John J. Glennon on the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary of Episcopal life were made public today by the Fund Committee of which the Right Rev. J. J. Tannrath is chairman.

The priest of each parish will be chairman of the testimonial fund in his parish, and may adopt his own method of raising the parish quota. Payments by parishioners may be made in cash, or in a series of deferred payments.

From advance reports there is great enthusiasm among the laity regarding the jubilee itself and the amount of the fund to be presented to the Archbishop for educational purposes. Many of the parishes are vying with each other to see which can be first to send in its quota in cash.

The amounts requested from the various parishes follow:

AGED "SACHEL GAME"
WORKED ON SERBIAN

Paul Widmar Places Savings in Valise of Stranger Seeking an "Honest Man."

Paul Widmar of 617 Hawk avenue was robbed of $792 yesterday afternoon by confidence men who employed the old satchel trick. Widmar is a Serbian and reported the swindle through an interpreter.

He was walking near his home when he met two other Serbians who introduced themselves as members of a party that was collecting funds for the starving children of Serbia. They were on their way to meet the treasurer, who carried $2000 in a black satchel. A few blocks away they encountered the "treasurer" and he was carrying his satchel.

The "treasurer" said he was seeking "an honest Serbian" with a bank account to whom he could entrust the satchel. It contained $2000, he said, and he was afraid to carry it around. Widmar said he had a bank account and that he would be only too glad to accommodate a fellow countryman. Would he be kind enough to draw out his money and place it in the satchel with the $2000 so that the "treasurer" would be sure that the charity fund was safe? Certainly he would.

Widmar then went to the Chouteau Trust Co. and drew his savings, amounting to $792. The "treasurer" placed the money in the satchel and handed the satchel to Widmar. The latter was instructed to take the satchel to his home and to meet the "treasurer" an hour later. Widmar went home and out of curiosity opened the satchel. He found a roll of newspaper clippings wrapped in three $1 bills.

If You Want More Bodily and Mental Vigor
Try Me I Only Require One Minute of your time each day. I have helped give thousands of weak, run-down, nervous folks, increased strength and endurance, in two weeks' time, in many instances.

I am not a doctor but PHYSICIANS HAVE OFTEN ADVISED PEOPLE
TO TRY ME. Former UNITED STATES SENATORS, United States Army
Generals, Judges of U. S. Courts and many well known people have availed themselves of my help.

STROKES, MEN, ATHLETES, BRAIN WORKERS—they know what I can do when they want the "stay there" strength and endurance that wins.

WOMEN WHO ARE WEAK, nervous and irritable as a result of overwork, worry or household drudgery have often obtained most surprising relief from me.

When, as a result of iron starvation, you get up feeling tired in the mornings, when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night, when your digestion all goes wrong, or you have pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but try me. I only take one minute of your time each day. I am NUXATED IRON—organic iron. I am like the iron in apples, lemons and grapes. I help make strong, healthy, rosy-cheeked women. Without iron like me, your blood becomes pale, thin and watery and your power to change food into living tissue, therefore nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it. To prove to yourself what I can do, get your doctor to take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles. Then try me for one month and have a new "blood count" made. You will find your red blood corpuscles have increased and how much stronger and better you feel, how the color has come back to your face and how much stronger and more steady your nerves now are. I will not hurt your teeth nor disturb your stomach.

You need not lose a cent on my iron.
I do not give you satisfactory results my manufacturers will refund your money.
Get only me. Beware of imitations.
Come in tablets only, never in liquid form—Look for the letters N. E. on every tablet—and the word "Nuxated" on every package. Sold in all drug stores.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH PLANS NORTHWESTERN SCHOOL

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Plans to establish an educational institution in the northwestern part of the United States, probably at North Yakima, Washington, were approved yesterday at the closing session of the general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, with the adoption of the Education Committee's report favoring the project. The institution will cost approximately $2,000,000. The assembly adjourned sine die to meet in Cambridge, O., next year.

A recommendation that the church go on record as favoring the establishment of a Federal union of churches in the United States, using the Presbyterian system, was made in a report by the Committee on Councils. The proposition was referred to the various presbyteries, each of which will vote on it and report at the next general assembly.

The Rev. Dr. John McNaughton was elected executive secretary of the board of publication, J. J. Porter secretary of the board of church extension and the Rev. John Bradford executive secretary of the board of education.

STILL AND LIQUOR SEIZED IN FLAT AND WOMAN IS HELD

Police Discover "Moonshine" in Upper Apartment and Find Apparatus Concealed Below.

Mrs. Anna Mazu, 27 years old, of 2453A De Kalb street, was arrested at 10 o'clock last night when policemen searching her home found what they say is five gallons of "moonshine" whisky in an icebox in the kitchen. When asked where she obtained the whisky, Mrs. Mazu said, the police report, "I made it today." The police found no still, so searched further. In the downstairs flat, occupied by John Nickowitzki, 39 years old, the policemen found a milk bottle filled with the same kind of liquid found upstairs. He said it had been given him by Mrs. Mazu as a reward for hiding her still. The still was found under a bed. He said she had brought it to his flat earlier in the day and asked him to keep it, saying she had a "feeling" the police might "come today." When the police questioned Mrs. Mazu further after her neighbor had been arrested, she professed not to be able to understand. Both were held.

HERPEL IN OFFICE AS ASSESSOR

George M. Herpel, of 424 Central avenue, Clayton, today took office as County Assessor, succeeding George Bode, who retired from politics after having held public office in St. Louis County since 1902. Herpel, who is a son of a former Sheriff of St. Louis County, began his political career 12 years ago as a deputy under Bode, who then was Constable of St. Louis County. Later Herpel was a deputy under Bode when the latter served as Sheriff. The term of Assessor is four years.

Why Some Stocks Are Safer Than a Good Many Bonds

In theory, a bond is safer for an investor than a share of stock. In fact, some stocks are safer—both as to principal and income—than a good many bonds. It all depends on the business back of the stocks and bonds.

The average bond is regarded as safe as to income when the company that issues it is earning, for interest and dividends, TWO TIMES the sum of its yearly interest charges.

That being the rule, how safe as to income would you say Union Electric preferred stock is, when this Company's earnings for dividends (after paying all interest charges), are SIX TIMES the amount of the preferred dividend?

These shares cost $100 each and are always worth $100 each. We maintain a par cash market for them in our Securities Department. If it is not convenient for you to pay all cash for some of these shares, you can buy them out of your current savings, on a ten-monthly payment plan. Here is your chance to get 7% on your savings while acquiring a 7% preferred share of ownership in one of St. Louis' largest and solidest permanent business institutions.

Union Electric's continuing and increasing business strength is based upon honest financing, efficient service at low rates, and the good will of the rapidly growing community of more than 1,000,000 people which it serves.

MISSOURIAN ON TRIAL FOR DEATH OF STEP-GRANDFATHERFrank Staats Accused of Seeking Land on Which Samuel Hol-stead, 72, Deaf and Dumb,
Lived.By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., June 1.—The trial of Frank Staats, 32 years old, charged with murder in connection with the death of his step-grandfather, Samuel Holstead, 72, who was deaf and dumb, opened before Judge
David H. Harris in Circuit Court here yesterday.Prosecuting Attorney Ruby Hulsen of Boone County, in his opening statement to the jury, declared the State would attempt to show that Staats murdered Holstead with the intention of securing possession of land upon which Holstead and his wife, also deaf and dumb, lived. The tract would have gone to Staats and his brother, Rice Staats, upon the death of the couple under a will,
the prosecuting attorney said.
Holstead, who lived near Jinglewood, was found dead June 24, last.
The coroner's verdict was that he met death from a gunshot wound inflicted by an unknown person.The grand jury of Boone County indicted Staats last October in connection with the crime, but he was not arrested until late in December.

50 POLES AND 15 GERMANS KILLED IN FIGHT AT ANNABERG

German Garrison of 300 Repulses Attack of 700 Rebels and Pursues Them to Kalinov, Driving Them Out.

POLES LEAVE DEAD AND WOUNDED AND GERMANS BURY BODIES AND PUT WOUNDED IN HOUSES IN SILESIAN TOWN.

ANNABERG, Silesia, June 1.—Fifty poles and 15 Germans were killed and a total of about 175 were wounded when Polish insurgents attempted yesterday to take Annaberg, after a brief shelling by small field pieces.

The Poles were repulsed and fled to Kalinov, whither the Germans pursued, and drove them out. Seven hundred rebels marched on Annaberg and engaged the German garrison of 300 with rifles and machine guns. The Germans replied with steady volleys for two hours and then counter-attacked.

The fighting became hand-to-hand, rifles being clubbed and grenades and knives brought into action. After an hour of this street fighting the Poles broke and fled, leaving their dead and wounded in the streets.

The Germans buried the Polish dead, placed the wounded in houses here and removed their own casualties to Krappitz.

The Germans followed the retreating insurgents into Kalinov and renewed the fighting in the streets, finally driving them several miles beyond the city.

Baron von Pless, reporting to the Allied Commission, which sent officers to investigate the fighting, said:

"We were attacked, and we counter-attacked, advancing into Kalinov, but under our agreement with the commission to undertake no offensive, our forces were withdrawn. We conducted a purely defensive action. Unfortunately there were severe casualties on both sides."

TORIES TRYING TO GET CONTROL OF 'TIMES' FROM NORTHCLIFFE

Walter Family, Former Proprietors, Opposed to Irish Policies.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. LONDON, May 31.—For some time the air of Fleet street has been thick with rumors of a fight for control of the Times between Lord Northcliffe and the Walter family, the paper's former proprietors, who are politically of the hidebound Tory complexion and have bitterly opposed Lord Northcliffe's Irish policy as well as his rather sympathetic attitude toward labor.

Premier Lloyd George has been working hard to unseat Lord Northcliffe and it is now rumored he has succeeded in inducing Sir John B. Gordon, the next biggest stockholder, to throw in his lot with the Walters. This would give the publisher's opponents a majority of the stock. Sir John, although he has never taken any part in politics, is personally a Tory and strongly anti-labor, as well as a believer in the Carson policy for Ireland. But he also knows that under the Walter family the Times had been brought to such a condition that only Lord Northcliffe's coming would save it and that its great increase in circulation, as well as its immense growth of advertising revenue, has been due solely to the present publication's genius.

It is also rumored Lord Northcliffe, a war minister and Minister of Munitions under the present Government, is backing the Walter family in the interest of the Prime Minister and if he attempts to outvote Lord Northcliffe succeeds, the paper will be run in Lloyd George's interests. It must be remembered that the Premier's friends brought off a similar coup for him in connection with the Daily Chronicle, which, being supported by him for a time, he was to be critical of his management of public affairs. Lord Northcliffe, however, is a hard man to beat and may be trusted to give his opponents the fight of their lives as he commands immense resources of every kind.

Anglo-Japanese Alliance. The Associated Press. TOKYO, June 1.—Great Britain, Lord Nichi Nichi declares today, has suggested that Japan permit the Anglo-Japanese alliance to continue another year. The two nations are definitely negotiating for a revision of the alliance, the newspaper says.

Congressman Campbell Favors Air Defense After Taking Part in Aerial Bombing Test at Sea

Expresses Belief That Airships Could Sink Enemy's Ships Approaching Shore—Service Economical and Effective.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Congressman Philip P. Campbell of Kansas, one of the few men in civilian or army life who have seen actual bombs dropped from the air in a simulated attack upon a battleship, has expressed the conviction after witnessing bombing experiments off Langley Field, Va., Saturday that the day of the battleship is done.

According to Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, Congressman Campbell and Congressman Walsh of Massachusetts, another witness of Saturday's tests, have seen more aerial bombing and know more about it than anybody outside the aviation services of the army and navy.

Both Campbell and Walsh, in the words of the former, came back from Langley Field "intoxicated" with enthusiasm over the possibilities of aviation for national defense.

Campbell declared that his belief in the future of the airship was in no way shaken by Saturday's accident, in which seven men met death while returning from Langley Field in a Curtiss-Eagle army plane. He agreed with army officials that the accident was due not to any defect in the mechanism of the plane or any failure on the part of the pilot, whom Campbell praised highly, but wholly to the strain on him in which the machine was caught.

Went Down in Eagle Plane. Campbell and Walsh went to Langley Field in the machine that was wrecked on the return journey. They were the only two of the party who were not killed. The machine was wrecked on the way back. The 120-mile trip down caused them to change their plans and come back to Washington by boat. Neither had any notion of an accident to the plane on the way back. The 120-mile trip down caused them to change their plans and come back to Washington by boat.

"After lunch three Martin bombers went 60 miles out to sea to take pot shots at a target on the water. This was the bulk of the old San Marcos. The part of it that showed above the water was a target of about 200 feet. Circling about the target, each plane dropped a bomb—a 100-pound aerial bomb loaded with 65 pounds of TNT—as it came over the water.

"The plane was the first over the first bomb that we dropped hit center. The tail of the bomb had been painted white, and we could see it as it struck the water. It fell about 200 feet to the target. As the bomb buried its nose in the bulk, our plane was lifted up 5 feet.

"Eighteen bombs were dropped from the three planes, and six of the 18 hit the target. Ten fell from 50 to 100 feet away. Two struck the water 300 feet from the target. These two were the only bad misses. When a bomb missed, we could see water and earth shoot up in a boiling mass in a space as big as a battleship. Being directly above, we could not tell how high the water was thrown. All we could see was a charming in the ocean that kept up for three minutes."

Just what damage was done to the bulk by the direct hits we could not discern, but when we got through the target looked smaller than when we began to shoot at it. It seemed as if it had been pushed down into the sand. These were small bombs that were used. They hit a 60-pounder which had been annihilated the old vessel."

Campbell Tries the Wheel. Four men were in one machine—the pilot, the bomber, Campbell, and Capt. Delavergne, air attaché of the French embassy. Campbell sat beside the pilot.

The bombs were released by means of a lever, handled by a man in the cockpit in front. Each was about four feet long and eight inches in diameter, with "fin" on the tail.

Throughout the bombing the three planes were in communication with one another by radio telephone. Up above them was Brigadier-General Mitchell of the Air Service, the man who started the battleship-airship controversy by his public declaration that the development of the plane had rendered the capital ship obsolete. "Frisking about in his little plane," said Campbell, "Gen. Mitchell was having the time of his life. He was turning double somersaults and darting this way and that, not out of mere bravado, but to show how he would go about dodging shells from anti-aircraft guns on the ship. Mitchell seemed to be saying to us that, if he had a little bomb up there, he could do some damage on his own account."

Campbell's Conclusions. Asked to give his conclusions from the experiment, Campbell said: "I am convinced by what I saw that the air service, by using the same relative measurements, can accomplish the same results with bombs dropped 2000 feet. They have accurate measurements for dropping bombs as land or naval gunners have for firing at a target. It is as certain that they can reach their objective point as that you can throw a shell 15 miles and get an occasional hit. It is, in fact, more certain, because a missile dropped from a ship gains rather than loses momentum.

"I do not believe it would be possible for any battle fleet to approach our shores against an adequate defense by airplanes. One 2000-pound shell fired with T. N. T. will put any battleship made out of commission. "We went out from shore in formation of three, but planes can go in five or seven. However effective its anti-aircraft fire may be, a battleship can't bring down all the planes that can be sent against it. It seems to me that the chance of a battleship against attacking planes is a mighty slim chance."

"The air men had been practicing for six weeks in secret, in preparation for the army-navy tests to be made in June and July to determine what question an actual issue would be. We went out Saturday to the first open practice, and we saw. They have passed the experimental stage. They are now in the realm of theory into that of demonstrated fact. As surely as we attempt to approach an enemy's shores with our fleet, it will be sunk by airplanes; and what others can do to us, we can do to them."

Will Work in Congress. "I intend in Congress to use my influence for the upbuilding of an air force as a means of defense. The most certain and the most economical means of national defense available to any country against a foe who would bombard its coasts or try to land an army of occupation."

All those 60 planes that we saw in review at Langley Field, including pursuit planes, scouts and bombers, cost but a fraction of what it costs to build one capital ship."

Campbell drew the lesson from Saturday's fatal accident that there should be at least two landing fields between here and Langley, and that daily reports of air conditions should be supplied by the Weather Bureau to the Air Service.

"There should be stations and dispatchers for the Air Service," he said, "just as there are in railway operation. I have before me the Curtiss-Eagle plane left Langley Field Saturday to return to Washington. It should have a report on air conditions all the way up. It ought to have been positioned for this plane, on approaching a station, to get by radio phone a signal track clear from here to Washington or a warning to come down. The pilot had no knowledge of any adverse air conditions, any more than he had when we started the down trip."

Tells of 100-Foot Drop. "There was no apparent danger coming down, though we were battling air currents all the way. It was a wonderful trip, under a splendid pilot, Lieut. Ames—a man of the fine type, physically and mentally, that the air service has attracted. Walsh and I read our newspapers with a feeling of perfect security. I recall how cool it was when we passed over the woods and how warm over open fields. We hit at about 1500 feet, but came down to 1000 to keep the course. Once we dropped 100 feet, the sensation was like that caused by the quick shock down in an elevator. All that kept us from coming back in the plane was Walsh's sickness on the way down."

"The accident to the big plane should not be allowed to hurt the cause of aviation," said Campbell. "Such an accident could rarely happen. It could not be foreseen in the case any more than a railroad accident could be foreseen. The lesson that it teaches is the need of a weather forecasting service for airplanes. On a rich day of day and with a good pilot I would have no more hesitancy in going up now than I had before."

U. S. SENDS OUT "FEELERS" UPON DISARMAMENT

Informal Approaches Made to Great Powers Preparatory to Formal Negotiations.

ACTION SUGGESTED IN SUPREME COUNCIL

Slow and Deliberate Action Expected to Precede Compliance With the Borah Resolution.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 1.—"Informal feelers" with respect to an international agreement for a reduction of armaments already have been put out by the American Government, it was learned yesterday, in high administration quarters.

The purpose, it is understood, is to develop the attitude of foreign governments on the question before any formal negotiations are undertaken. The approaches already made are determined to have been conveyed through American representatives sitting informally in the allied councils, and it is believed that the conversations have been more or less of an incidental character.

The administration has indicated its belief that the subject could well be considered by the Supreme Council, but officials have pointed out that it could not be brought formally to the Council by the United States, since this Government is represented there only in an unofficial capacity. Information has reached Washington, however, which leads those close to the administration to believe that some other Government, prompted by the informal suggestions of the United States, may make the disarmament question an actual issue before the Council in the near future.

The process is expected here to be a slow one and generally the belief is held that the "informal feelers" of the United States are now being put out by President Harding in response to the Borah amendment to the naval bill requesting that the Chief Executive begin negotiations for a disarmament agreement.

SENATE BODY ADDS $53,850,000 TO DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION

Principal Increase by Committee $50,000,000 for the Shipping Board.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Senate Appropriations Committee in reporting yesterday the deficiency appropriation bill recommended increases aggregating $53,850,000 over the $100,000,000 total carried in the measure as passed by the House. The principal increase is one of $50,000,000 for the Shipping Board.

Other increases recommended are for passport bureaus at New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Seattle and New Orleans, $17,420; for airplane mail service between New York and San Francisco, $125,000; for expenses of delegates to the Pan-American Postal Congress at Buenos Aires, $30; for the immigration service, $488,850. Appropriations made by the House for quarantine stations at New York, Baltimore and Boston are cut $675,000.

The appropriation of $35,000,000 for the Shipping Board for completion of vessels now under construction by the bill as passed by the Senate Committee which, however, added an amendment providing for a total of $75,000,000 for Shipping Board expenses. This would give the Shipping Board a net increase in appropriation of $50,000,000.

The bill as reported by the Senate Committee retains the House appropriation of $200,000 for enforcement of the prohibition enforcement act.

ROADS, PRIMARY, TAX REDUCTION, IN GOVERNOR'S CALL

Legislature Called Into Special Session June 14—Hyde to Decide Later on Question of Rents.

CONFERENCES TO BE HELD WITH LEADERS

Proclamation States Other Subjects May Be Recommended for Consideration in Special Messages.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—Gov. Hyde, in a proclamation issued last afternoon calling the Legislature into special session June 14, limited his recommendations for legislation to the subjects of improved roads, tax reduction and a new primary law. He will decide after the session begins whether to include a recommendation for legislation designed to curb rent profiteers.

Under the call, a special session of the Legislature will have the power to pass any kind of a law affecting road building, to reduce any of the State tax rates fixed by the Legislature, and to pass any law governing the holding of primaries. It will be possible to obtain a primary law which will clearly make fraud in the primary punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary and which will correct the faults in the present law pointed out by the Supreme Court in the Johnston case, in which the court held it to be illegal to use all election records of a precinct before a grand jury in a primary fraud investigation.

Leaders Without Comment. Union leaders are withholding comment on the board's decision, but it has been freely stated at sessions of the railway employees' leaders here during the board's hearings on the decreases that cuts of 10 to 12 per cent would meet little opposition.

Leaders of the four big railroad brotherhoods have called meeting here for July 1, when the wage decreases are to become effective, to discuss the award.

H. E. Bryan, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and C. M. Pelton, president of the Chicago, Great Western, declare that the reductions granted are "not sufficient to meet the demands of the situation."

In a supplemental memorandum the board points out that during the government control the wages of railway employees were increased from an average of $78 a month, in December, 1917, to $116.66 in January, 1920, and to $141 by the increase of last July. About 10 per cent of the railway employees, chiefly those unskilled, the board says, had received increases approximating 100 per cent. The average increase with the July, 1920, award over the pay prior to Federal control was $1 per cent.

The board estimates the present cut will mean "an average monthly salary of about $125 for all employees but such an average means, of course, that, while some workers could earn a sum considerably in excess of this many others would fall far short of that figure."

TABLE SHOWING REDUCTIONS. Following are the reductions ordered in some of the principal classes of railroad employees.

Browns Score 3 in Ninth Inning and Humble Sox

Shocker Goes to Hill and Hurls Last Frame—Fohlmen to Open in East Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Totting a record of two victories in their three engagements with the White Sox at Chicago, Lea Fohl's sprightly Browns were hastening toward Gotham today bound for their initial invasion of the Eastern end of the American League circuit.

They are scheduled to tackle the Yankees, Babe Ruth and all the other illustrious fence-busters on the Polo Grounds tomorrow afternoon, and according to the present program, Urban Shocker, who finished yesterday's 8-7 Brownie triumph, will be the slugging candidate to open the five-frame program because of his old-time ability to charm the Manhattanites.

The folks from Sportsman's Park are in high spirits for they feel they are destined to pick up a lot of ball games on this junket. They are confident because every fellow on the club is clouting the ball in vicious fashion. In the three battles with Kid Gleason's men, the Brownies accumulated a string of 43 safe wallops, which is considerable swatting.

In yesterday's game the Sox out-hit the Browns, getting 16 wallops as against 14. Ray Kolp hooked up with Dominick Mulreanan at the start of hostilities, but the former was yanked at the end of six innings, when the count read 6 to 5 in favor of the pale horse.

Palmero then flung two rounds, and when the ninth opened the Sox were out in the lead 7 to 5, and banking on a victory which would have boosted them to fifth place, but the Browns came from behind in their part of the ninth and rushed three tallies over the plate. Once in front, Fohl posted the Shocker on the park and played it safe.

The Brownie skipper introduced something new and original in strategy yesterday by playing four different games at second base. He exhibited in order Messrs. McManus, Lee, Lamb and Gleason.

Next Sunday afternoon the Triple A Club and the Municipal Tennis Association will play a tennis team match on the Triple A courts. Members of the teams have not been selected.

The Proper Way to Start Golf Would You Begin Music With a Sonata? Use a Putter 6 Inches From Cup

By P. A. Vaile, Author of "Modern Golf," "The New Golf," "The Soul of Golf," Etc.

If you want to learn anything, how do you start? Would you start music with a Beethoven sonata, billiards with a masse shot, tennis with the American service, swimming with the crawl or riding by entering a point-to-point steeplechase?

Most assuredly you would do none of these things. You would have to go through the rudiments first. If you wished to be any good at any of them.

Why, then, in golf, should the poor novice almost invariably be led to the most complex stroke in the game, the one wherein lies most possibility of error and the greatest chance for the acquaintance of moral cowardice—the drive?

One would almost think, as Jimmy Sherlock, the famous British player, once said, that there is a vast conspiracy to keep the enterprising novice always a novice—and to remove even his enterprise. There certainly is no more effective way to do it than to start him playing golf with a driver.

If players and instructors would only realize that to all intents and purposes there is only one stroke in golf; that any stroke that is played is some portion of a drive; that a drive is an extended putt, they might get down to basic facts and understand that golf, not being a law unto itself, cannot be successfully taught on methods absolutely opposed to all other instruction, namely, by taking the most risky part, the drive, first.

All sound building must be from the bottom upward and learning the drive first cannot tend to produce an accurate and confident golfer.

It would be infinitely better for a beginner—and for many far removed from beginners—to put the ball down 6 inches from the hole and to start there, hacking through his clubs to the tee, instead of starting from the tee. This, of course, would have to be done at a practice hole, or when one would not back into a volley of golf balls.

Bill to Provide Charge for Tennis And Golf Permits

Measure to Be Introduced Proposes $10 a Year for Golf and $1 a Year for Tennis.

As the result of a conference between D. R. Niederlander, president of the Forest Park Golf Club, and City Comptroller Louis J. Nolte, a bill will be introduced, probably Friday, at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, providing for a charge for permits to play golf and tennis on the links and courts of St. Louis parks.

Comptroller Nolte told the Post-Dispatch that President Niederlander had convinced him of the necessity of such a charge, and that in the absence of a law permitting such a tax, the ordinance authorizing it would be submitted.

The bill contemplates the following charges: Ten dollars a year for a golf permit, or, in the absence of a yearly permit, 50 cents a round for the 18-hole course and 25 cents for the nine-hole course.

One dollar a year for an annual tennis permit. It was explained that President Niederlander had figured on a 15 cents charge over the nine-hole course, but Park Commissioner Pape advised the higher rate as beginners used the short course and the cost of the upkeep was therefore greater.

Comptroller Nolte said that a revenue from the golf charges of about $20,000 annually was expected, and that it was the intention to devote all of this sum to the maintenance of the golf links. He said that in 1920 the cost of maintaining the golf links was $18,719, and that 7800 permits had been issued. The tennis courts of the city cost $12,300 to keep up, and 26,503 permits to play were issued, all without charge.

The bill, before it is finally submitted, will be referred to Director of Public Welfare Nelson Cunliff, who formerly was Park Commissioner.

President Niederlander told the Post-Dispatch that he had reached the conclusion that the only solution to the problem of the links lay in some plan to make them self-sustaining, as appropriations from the park funds were precarious, and not to be depended upon. Members of the Forest Park Golf Club have from time to time gone into their own funds to help pay for the upkeep of the courses.

President Niederlander made a detailed investigation of the public links systems in other cities and found that practically all the large cities maintained their courses by charges of various descriptions. The average charge was about that which will be asked for St. Louis links. Many cities had considerably higher fees.

REFEREE AND PICTURE RIGHTS TO BE SETTLED AT FIGHT CONFERENCE

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 1.—Selection of the referee for the Dempsey-Carpenter bout and discussion of moving picture rights will be the subject of a conference tomorrow between Promoter Tex Rickard and representatives of the principals.

"Personally I am not concerned in the appointment of the referee. I accept to see that a competent official is named," said Rickard today.

The trend of the moving picture rights discussion will take now is uncertain. Under the contract, Rickard holds a 50 per cent share in the prospective films, while Dempsey and Carpenter each hold a 25 per cent interest.

Several tentative offers have been received for purchase of these rights. It has been customary for former heavyweight boxers to sell their film rights. Jeffries sold his interest for $60,000 and Johnson for $50,000. Dempsey sold his rights to the pictures of the Toledo battle for $10,000.

MISS GOULD DROPPED IN TENNIS RANKINGS

In the revised national ranking of women tennis players Corinne Gould, tenth star, was dropped from sixteenth to eighteenth position. Margaret Davis of St. Paul advanced from seventeenth to the twelfth place in the list. Florence Ballin of New York, whom Miss Gould defeated at the Clay Court event last season, was moved up to No. 9 from the fourteenth position.

Relay Swimming Record.

By the Associated Press. HONOLULU, T. H., June 1.—The Outrigger Canoe Club six-man team won the 600-yard relay race in the Hawaiian amateur athletic union swimming meet here yesterday. Time 55 minutes 55.5 seconds. An effort will be made to establish this time as an international record. It was announced, W. J. Harris and Duke Kahanamoku, who competed in the Olympic games, were members of the team.

Fitzsimmons Wins Bout.

By the Associated Press. NEWARK, N. J., June 1.—Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former world's heavyweight champion, defeated Ermino Spalla, Italian heavyweight champion, in a 12-round bout here last night. Fitzsimmons weighed 174½ and Spalla 185.

Kauff Asks Reinstatement.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 1.—Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, said yesterday that the application for reinstatement of Benjie Kauff, New York Giants' outfielder, had been received and soon would be considered. He declined, however, to indicate the probable outcome.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Top-Heavy Opinion Favors Dempsey.

EVEN at this early stage of the training period, and in spite of the manifest desire on the part of many Americans to see the French war hero returned a winner at Jersey City, July 2, opinion favoring Dempsey to win decisively is preponderant—almost top heavy. About the best that can be heard for Carpenter is that he has "a good chance."

The records of the men and the physical superiority of Dempsey, taken in consideration with Carpenter's long lay-off from the ring competition during the war, are the compelling arguments with the Dempsey followers.

The arguments are irrefutable, as far as they go; but they do not take into consideration, apparently, a vital point. It is that in Carpenter, Dempsey will be meeting for the first time a type of boxer he has not yet opposed.

Swordfish and the Whales.

RIGHT down the line Dempsey's knockout victims have been slugs of head, foot and head. Men ponderous of swing, man-killing in power, no doubt, but unable to deliver the finishing stroke quickly.

Dempsey was the swordfish to the whales against such men; but, opposed to Carpenter, it will be swordfish against swordfish; speed against speed; knockout blow against knockout blow, with what?

This Kind Dangerous for Jack.

CARPENTER embodies elements that ought to cause Dempsey grave trouble, if all the nice things said about his skill and punch and headwork are true. This being the case, why the talk of 2 to 1 on Dempsey? The

ORGANIZED BASEBALL WILL FIGHT "POOL"

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 1.—Abolition of the baseball pool will be one of the chief objects of the organized baseball crusade against gambling, Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, declared today.

Asked concerning the effect of the 1919 world's series expose on public sentiment, Judge Landis stated that "the public from coast to coast has been very generous and the popularity of the game is unimpaired."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 1.—Freeman P. Gardner of St. Paul, Minn., last night was elected captain of the Yale track team for next year. He is a pole vaulter.

right kind of opposition. He is not a miracle man, just the best man we have in these days—a rough, rugged game, FIGHTER, with an undoubted knockout for the gentlemen who receives his punch squarely.

It is easily conceivable, however, that Carpenter, whom hereby has endowed with exactly the qualifications calculated to cause Dempsey most trouble, may stay the 12 rounds and be strong at the finish.

RAILROAD SHARES RELATIVELY FIRM, BUT GAINS SMALL

Afternoon Rally Wipes Out Losses Scored by Industrial Earlier - Crucible Steel Among Early Weak

By Leased Wire From the New York

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

Short selling was resumed at the opening of the Stock Exchange and in fairly active trading numerous declines at a point or two were forced. Crucible Steel was feature for weakness, the market rallied back well most of the losses being cancelled despite the raising of the rate of interest from 7 to 7 1/2 per cent. The afternoon trading was everywhere less quiet. Toward the close industrial shares showed a predominance of fractional gains, as did the rails which were relatively firm all day.

Sterling Is Strong

It is now abundantly clear that the recent pronounced weakness in the continental exchanges was due to suggestions in this column over a week ago, to shifting of funds in connection with German reparations payments. The Reparation Commission having required the Germans to make the entire first payment in dollars, the latter were forced to sell their stocks of sterling franc and other currencies in order to be able to buy the necessary dollars. The natural result was a marked depreciation in the European exchanges at New York, a circumstance which gives point to queries as to why the commission should have refused to accept anything but dollars.

Today's trading in the exchanges indicated that dollar buying has been at least temporarily suspended and that the market had considerable confidence in the earlier and higher prices of the allied currencies. With little actual business transacted, the quotation on sterling jumped up 3 cents to $13.15, while franc gained 1 1/2 points to $1.15, and the mark 1 1/4 points to $1.34, cents. Markets meanwhile were quoted 1 point lower, at 158 cents, while Scandinavian exchanges were weak and those on Switzerland and Holland showed good recoveries. After the recent demonstration that the dollar which reparations payments can disturb the exchange, it is interesting to note that the wheat market turned its attention to the July delivery. The price of the latter was run up sharply, showing a gain of $1.37, which is a new high record, while the price of the spot grain was revised downward to correspond with the change in price of the July delivery. The bull party at the same time found comfort in private reports which suggested condition of wheat estimated yield on the crop which are materially below the last government estimate. Corn showed a sympathetic rally about 1/2 cent in cotton continued down, while the May price 11 points lower at 12 1/2 c.

Steel Industry Quiet

Suspended animation continues in the steel industry which is quite natural when it is considered that a general expectation of lower prices on the part of buyers is now compounded with the approach of the trade's usually dull season. The iron and steel industry continues in a state of suspended animation, with no new orders being placed and no new contracts being made. The industry is waiting for a revival of demand which is likely to occur this year.

Wall Street News and Comment

SPECIAL DAILY

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Publication of the decision of the Labor Board on the reduction in railway wages had very little effect one way or the other in the markets today. The upward of an average 12 per cent cut was a compromise between the minimum and maximum estimates by which the financial community has been governed for the last week or more. Being neither better nor worse than looked for, its influence was negative so far as immediate operations were concerned. But in a broader view there is no doubt about the downward revision in the railway payrolls being altogether satisfactory for the great majority of investors. The prospect of $400,000,000 being saved from operating expenses is something the importance of which is better understood in the light of the remarkable economies already disclosed in the traffic statements for April.

Railway stocks moved with a good deal of uncertainty at the start, but later developed rather more strength. The industrial and professional operators reduced their experiments on

Wall Street News and Comment

SPECIAL DAILY

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Publication of the decision of the Labor Board on the reduction in railway wages had very little effect one way or the other in the markets today. The upward of an average 12 per cent cut was a compromise between the minimum and maximum estimates by which the financial community has been governed for the last week or more. Being neither better nor worse than looked for, its influence was negative so far as immediate operations were concerned. But in a broader view there is no doubt about the downward revision in the railway payrolls being altogether satisfactory for the great majority of investors. The prospect of $400,000,000 being saved from operating expenses is something the importance of which is better understood in the light of the remarkable economies already disclosed in the traffic statements for April.

Railway stocks moved with a good deal of uncertainty at the start, but later developed rather more strength. The industrial and professional operators reduced their experiments on

MISSOURIANS OPPOSE OIL AND ASPHALT DUTY

Congressman Dyer Says Tariff Would Enhance Cost of Road Maintenance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—A proposal before the Ways and Means Committee of the House to place a duty on crude oil and asphalt, which are now admitted free, has attracted the attention of Missouri members of the House because of the approaching expenditure of $60,000,000 on the roads of the State. Congressman Dyer has appeared before the committee with a protest against any duty on these road-building materials.

Dyer said today that the effect of the duty would be to reduce importations of asphalt, and that as a result there would be an increased use of the artificial asphalt, a by-product of crude oil, which engineers report is inferior to the native, or lake asphalt, for road-building purposes.

"As pavements laid with native asphalt are far more durable, if it is in effect kept out by the tariff, then its durability will be denied to the cities, counties and states that build highways," Dyer said. "The maintenance cost on all such roadways would be enhanced where native asphalt is not used to a point which would enormously exceed in money outlay the amount of money which the framers of the tariff bill might think the importation of asphalt would yield in revenue. When one considers the millions that are being expended on modern roads and their maintenance, it would be a very shortsighted policy to bar by a tariff that commodity which will do more than any other to preserve the investments made in roads."

[illegible]

A dark, vertical, textured strip, possibly a book binding or a piece of fabric, with a small, light-colored rectangular label at the top left corner. The label contains some faint, illegible markings. The main body of the strip is dark and has a rough, fibrous texture.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE CONFLICT.

Our wish, so sundry people think,
To see a pug exotic
Put Mr. Dempsey on the blink
Is hardly patriotic.
It sets our neighbor's ears agog
To say it isn't vital
Or cataclysmic if the Frog
Should haply cop the title.
But even though the sport-fans say
That we are getting sappy,
To see the Frenchman win the fray
Would make us rather happy.

The features of the Gallie pug
Are frank and reassuring;
The other gladiator's mug
Is not at all alluring.
Our Mr. Dempsey, safe and sound,
Fought battles to divert him,
The other fellow stuck around
Where shrapnel might have hurt him.
And so we fondly hope the Gaul
(His name is past pronouncing)
Gives our young person what we'd call
The devil of a trouncing.

But do you think because with hope
Thus buoyantly we juggle,
That we've not followed up the dope
Upon the coming struggle.
We freely say that it would make
Our being thrilled with pleasure
If the imported pug should take
Our Mr. Dempsey's measure.
But there are rules of common sense
That we are not forgetting.
And though our hope is still intense,
That's not the way we're betting.
